President Kennedy Slain In Texas

A Friend of Youth

November 22, 1963.

A day of blackest infamy which will surely remain deeply imbedded in the minds of each of us for the remainder of our lives.

On that day of ignominy, John Fitzgerald Kennedy, 35th President of the United States, was struck dead by an assassin's bullet as his motorcade was leaving downtown Dallas. With the final beat of a heart which lived only for its nation, the youth of America lost both a President and a part of youth itself.

For John F. Kennedy, the President and the man, was the very symbol of youth. His thoughts, his actions, and his aspirations were full of youth.

He was the youngest President ever to be inaugurated. He attended the public schools of Brookline, Mass., before going to Harvard University, where he was graduated in 1940 with honors. He also did graduate work at Stanford University.

In 1941, he entered the United States Navy, serving as commander of the PT 109 in the South Pacific during World War II. He was decorated twice for serious injuries and acts of heroism while in action.

He was a writer, a correspondent, and a United States Senator. President Kennedy served his nation well.

He was also a husband and father, married to Jacqueline Lee Bouvier in 1953. A daughter, Caroline, was born in 1957, a son, John F. jr., in 1960.

But we, the youth of America, shall long remember and revere JFK for many other qualities besides these.

He saw a need and a place for youth in the world. The Peace Corps was formed around the nation's young people. The National Fitness Program was initiated for our benefit. Possibly even more, he shall be remembered for touch-football on the White House lawn.

His warmth and nearness was felt by each of us. Even in these moments of opprobrium, he lingers still.

We have lost more than a President.

We have lost a true and wonderful friend and companion.

Johnson Takes Up Reins As Nation, World Mourn

By Bob Johnson

In a series of fast-moving events beginning last Friday, the President of the United States, John F. Kennedy, has been assassinated, the Vice-president has assumed the duties of President, the funeral services for the slain chief executive have taken place, a man has been charged with the assassination and has himself been murdered.

Stunned Disbelief

The American public and people of the world have reacted to this chain of events with stunned disbelief. Even now, when things are once more "normal," there is an air of unreality about the whole affair.

From the time TV programs were interrupted Friday noon with the electrifying announcement that the President had been shot, until Monday night when the dead President and his accused slayer were both buried, the American people watched event follow event with the rapidity of a collapsing row of dominoes.

Mr. John Fitzgerald Kennedy, 35th President of the United States, was gunned down by a sniper's rifle as he drove through downtown Dallas, Tex. last Friday. He was taken to a nearby hospital where he died at 1 p.m.

Governor Wounded

John Connally, governor of Texas, who was riding with the President, was wounded in the chest. He is now making a satisfactory recovery.

Lyndon Baines Johnson, Kennedy's Vice-President, was sworn into office by a woman federal judge at 1:38 p.m. in Dallas. Johnson had accompanied the President on the tour and was riding in the car behind him.

Lee Harvey Oswald, a communist sympathizer, was apprehended by Dallas police Friday afternoon and was later charged with the assassination. Oswald was also charged with the murder of J. D. Tippett, a Dallas policeman who was killed Friday afternoon.

Jack (Ruby) Rubenstein, a Dallas nightclub owner, shot and killed Oswald late Sunday morning in the Dallas City Jail. Network TV cameras and newspaper photographers recorded the act. Oswald died a short time later almost exactly 48 hours after and in the same hospital as the President.

Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy accompanied the body of her slain husband back to Washington, D. C. in the plane Lyndon B. Johnson, Johnson City, Tex., who was elected vice-president on Nov. 8, 1960, and whose term would have expired Jan. 20, 1965, succeeds the late President Kennedy as president of the United States.

He was born Aug. 27, 1908, near Johnson City, and was educated at Southwest Texas State Teachers College, San Marcos, where he received a Bachelor of Science degree in 1930; attended Georgetown Law School, 1935, and received the LL.D degree from Southwestern University in 1943.

Following graduation from Southwest Texas State Teachers College, he joined the faculty of a Houston high school, where he taught public speaking and debate. He left this work to become secretary to Congressman Richard M. Kleberg. In Washington, he found time at night to attend classes at Georgetown University Law School. Opportunity to return to Texas arose in 1935 when the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt appointed him state administrator of the National Youth Administration. Then, in 1937 he resigned to run for the Congressional seat left vacant by the death of James P. Buchanan, Brenham. He won over nine other candidates.

With the outbreak of World War II, as member of the Naval Reserve, he became the first member of Congress to enter active duty. Gallantry

College, City Mourn Loss Of President John Kennedy

Yesterday hundreds of Maryville citizens and MSC college students gathered to honor the memory of John Fitzgerald Kennedy, late President of the United States.

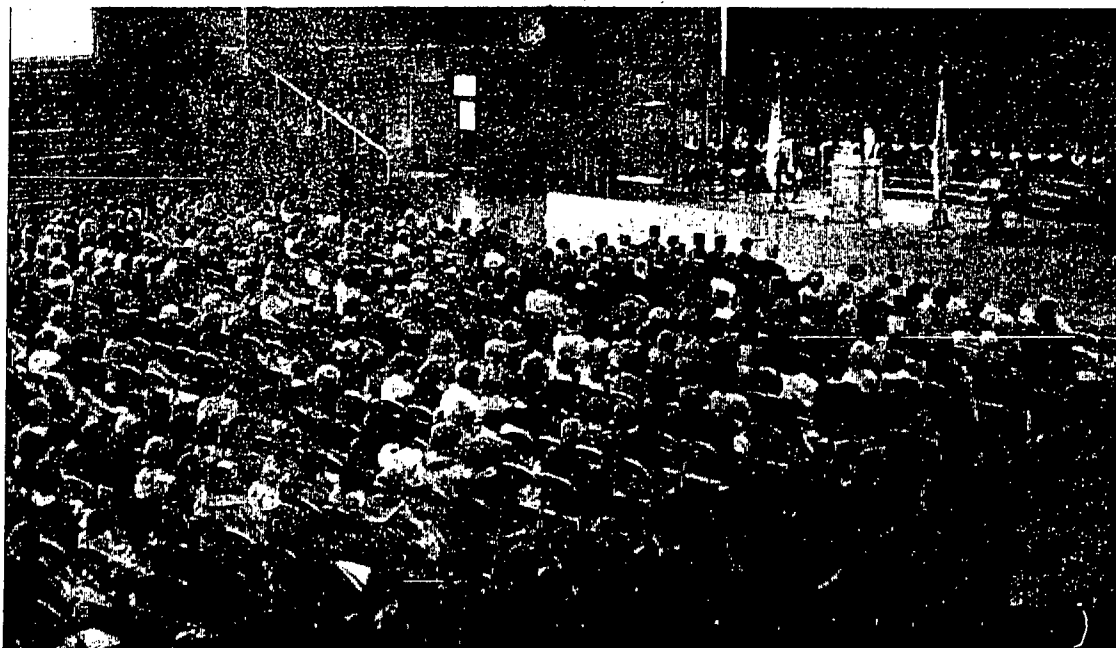

They came quietly and reverently into Lamkin Gymnasium. There were no outbursts of emotion, only an air of deep shock and sorrow that such a thing could happen in America.

Members of the college Veteran's Club presented the National and College flags. The Rev. Mr. Earl VanSickle, chairman of the Maryville Ministerial Alliance, gave the invocation.

The Tower Choir, directed by Mr. Gilbert Whitney, sang "The Lord's Prayer." Dr. J.

Body Lies in State

The body of the dead President lay in state at the White House from Saturday morning until it was ceremoniously moved to the Capitol rotunda Sunday afternoon. The casket was carried to the Capitol building by an artillery caisson followed by a black, riderless horse.

The late President was eulogized by Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, Chief Justice Earl Warren and Speaker of the House John McCormack at the rotunda.

The closed, flag-draped casket was viewed by approximately 240,000 people at the Capitol building.

Monday morning the caisson again carried the President's body, this time from the Capitol to the White House and then to St. Matthew's Cathedral for the requiem mass. Mrs. Kennedy, members of the Kennedy family, President and Mrs. Johnson, dignitaries from many foreign countries, and many government workers and officials walked behind the casket from the White House to the Cathedral.

Cardinal Celebrates Mass

Richard Cardinal Cushing, a long-time friend of the Kennedy family celebrated the low requiem mass.

The procession moved from the Cathedral to Arlington National Cemetery a few miles across the Potomac River. President Kennedy was buried there among thousands of other national heroes. His widow lighted torches over his grave which will remain burning permanently.

Citizens across the United States gathered at memorial services to honor the young President, dead at 46. Schools, government offices, and businesses closed for the day of national mourning proclaimed by President Johnson. Messages of sorrow and condolence came flooding in from around the world.

Johnson Picks Up Reins

President Johnson picked up the reins of the office and the wheels of American government have continued to move. Monday evening, after the funeral, and after a reception with Mrs. Kennedy, the heads of state and ambassadors who had come to the funeral were received by the President.

The historical greatness of John F. Kennedy remains for future years to determine. We today can only cite the accomplishments made by the man in a term of not fully three years. We can only say that Mr. Kennedy fell victim to the violence of extremism which he abhorred. He strove for the way of moderation which would accomplish the most with the least possible injury. He moved forward into new areas—never as fast as the radicals would wish and never as slowly as the reactionaries would desire. The young President, as Richard Nixon described it, "wrote the final and greatest chapter in his Profiles in Courage" in his death in Texas as he sought to bring under control the violent extremism of that large state.

A Great First Lady

Mrs. Kennedy stands in greatness beside her husband. She, whose infant son died last August, and whose husband fell mortally wounded in her lap, had the dignity and courage to carry out the rigorous ceremonies of state with a disciplined display of her feelings. One sensed, by her actions, the deep love she must feel for her husband and the dignity which she felt he would have wanted to maintain, even in death.

The assassination marked the coming of age of the television industry. On hand to cover every phase of the events from the instant they began until the last round-up and recap, the networks devoted their entire broadcast time to the news. Never was the public so quickly, so completely and so well informed. From the televising of the ceremonial processions to the unique photos of the Oswald's slaying and with few slips into poor taste, the coverage was top flight.

Questions Remain

Questions still remain, unsolved by Jack Ruby's "vengeance." Did Oswald, beyond the shadow of a doubt, kill the President? Why? Was anyone else involved? What about Cuba? Ruby's action only compounded the tragedy and mystery surrounding John F. Kennedy's death.

America moves on. Yet we have lost a great American.

Change Made In Proposed Amendments

At its meeting last Thursday, the Student Senate voted to add a subsection to the proposed amendments to the SGA Constitution.

The addition would make the proposed amendments effective the day following their approval by the Student Body and provide for elections to be held in December. Voting on all of the proposed amendments by the Student Body will take place on Dec. 3 in the lounge of Colden Hall. The additional proposed amendments reads as follows:

AMENDMENT NO. 3A—
agency—All procedures provided in Amendments 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, and 7 shall become operative on the day following approval by the Student Body except that the election of Senators for 1963-64 shall be held during the week of December 9-13, 1963, and provided further that nominations for Senators for 1963-64 shall be made on December 5, 1963, and provided further that the newly-elected Senators shall be installed at the first regular meeting of the Senate following the week of elections.

The Senate held a lengthy discussion about the proposed re-organization of the Senate. It was pointed out that if a group of students desiring representation were left out under the proposed plan, they could petition the Senate to propose an amendment to the Constitution to provide for such representation.

The Senate stated that they had tried to allocated representation both to active organizations and, according to population, to dormitory units.

The Senate also declared the class elections held this fall to be in violation of By-Law No. 1, Regulation 4 and to be void. The Senate voted to eliminate class offices by striking out Regulations 3, 4, 5, and 6 from By-Law No. 1 and provide for those duties by the following addition:

Regulation 3: The Student Senate shall appoint members of the Junior and Senior Classes to carry out the functions of those classes with regard to commencement, class gifts, and such other duties as are delegated to those classes. The Senate shall appoint a faculty member to advise the committee of the Senior Class.

Election to five successive terms to the House of Representatives followed in 1948 he became a successful candidate for the United States Senate. He became the youngest man ever elected to Senate leadership office when his Democratic colleagues unanimously named him minority leader of the 83rd Congress. He was later unanimously elected majority leader of the 84th, 85th and 86th Congresses, in which the Democrats had resigned the controlling votes.

Mr. Floyd Barrows, assistant professor of humanities, spoke at the Rotarian luncheon held at Armstrongs last Wednesday.

Barrows talked about the structure of the United Nations and answered the charge that the U.N. troops are commanded by Communists by stating that neither Soviets nor Communists are involved in the U.N. police action. As for the criticism that the United States pays most of the U.N. costs, Barrows stated that the U.S. pays only 32 per cent of the regular budget.

Barrows serves on the local U.N. committee. Dr. James Lowe, associate professor of sociology, is chairman of the general Maryville Committee.

College Mourns

W. Jones, MSC president, introduced the two speakers for the combined college-city services.

Jim Sanders, Student Body President, expressed the feelings of the student body: "We students are not gathered here today so much to pay respect to the memory of our late President as we are to perpetuate the memory of those things for which he dedicated and laid down his life." Sanders cited the example set by Mr. Kennedy as a challenge to Americans, especially to college students who are just beginning their adult lives.

Sanders closed his speech with these words of the late President: "The energy, the faith, the devotion which we bring to this endeavor will light our country and all who serve it, and the glow from that fire can truly light the world."

Speaking on behalf of the city, Mayor Cl E. Koerble stated that all Americans must share the blame for what happened. He referred to the loss of patriotism and the indifference toward law which have influence the younger generations.

The Choir sang a closing hymn. Fr. Lawrence Bossert, assistant pastor of St. Gregory's Church, gave the benediction. The color guard retired the colors.

The service ended with the playing of "Taps" by Michael

Bearcats to Unveil Attack Against Tall Wayne State

Coach Dick Buckridge's "fighting" Bearcats will hit the hardwoods Saturday night, Nov. 30, hoping to solve several major question marks for 1963.

Game time is 7:30 p.m.

Wayne State Teachers of Wayne, Neb., will provide rather stiff competition for the season's opener. Coach Al Svenningson of Wayne St. has two 6-9 giants, plus six other lettermen.

Returning for Wayne St. are Jon Garcia, 6-0, who fired at a 9-point clip last year; Dick Collins, 6-3 forward-guard; Chuck Peterson, 6-9, 225-pounds; and Bernie Lampe, 6-9, 240-pounds.

Wayne St. was upset by MSC last year in Wayne, but all first six lettermen are absent this year for the 'Cats. Coach Buckridge hopes to come up with capable replacements early in the season in preparation for the MIAA race.

The starting 'Cat lineup will probably include Bill Yeager, 6-5, 200, and Ed Maxwell, 6-3, 220, at forwards; Larry Richardson, 6-7, 215, at the post; and Nick Neira, 6-0, 175, and Bob Crawford, 5-9, 160.

Only Richardson, Neira, and Crawford are lettermen. Neira sat out the entire 1962 season with a injured knee.

Yeager is a Kansas St. transfer. He started on the K-St. frosh squad before also suffering a knee injury. Maxwell, a starting football guard, was All-Navy while in service, boasting a 30-point average.

As Coach Buckridge stated, "We have a lot of youth but not much experience. We're young and we'll make mistakes. One thing we will do, however, is hustle for anything we can get. We'll use a controlled running attack. We hope to answer some of our questions early in the season."

Note: MSC basketball mentor Coach Dick Buckridge has just announced that he is unsure of his starting lineup for Saturday night against Wayne St.

Bill Yeager, Ed Maxwell, and Larry Richardson are nursing injuries of various sorts and were question marks at press time for Tuesday night's intrasquad game.

Mat Notes

'Cat Matmen Injury Plagued

According to Jerry Landwer, wrestling coach, MSC matmen are plagued with injuries. In the 123 pound class, Harvey Hallum voted MSC's outstanding wrestler last year, will be out for two or three weeks with a kidney infection. It will probably take him a week to get back in shape when he returns.

Ernie Jones, 139 pounds, is out with an injured hand. Landwer hopes he'll be ready for the opening match against the University of Nebraska. Arnie "Duff" Thompson has an upper respiratory infection. The 137 pounder will be ready for the first match December 6. Alan Packer, 136 pounds, has a rib injury. Landwer hopes he'll be ready for Nebraska, but doesn't know how the ailment will affect his performance. Al Chezum, 177 pounds, has a gland infection. Heavyweight Jim Perez is out with an injured arm received in football.

Landwer said, "We've never had so many injuries at one time I can remember, especially to so many key men."

Although prospects are looking dim with the injuries, attendance should be up for matches this year, according to Coach Landwer. "We were quite pleased with intramural wrestling turnouts. There was a crowd of five hundred for the finals and one hundred and forty men competed in the tournament."
